

La Rose Bed & Breakfast

The website I've chosen is for the La Rose Bed & breakfast. the website is nearly completely inline not to mention it's not even in html5, the colour scheme uses white and black rgb that is harsh on you're eyes, the images surrounding the text sometimes pokes through and intrudes on the text area and there are many other flaws to list on top of these.

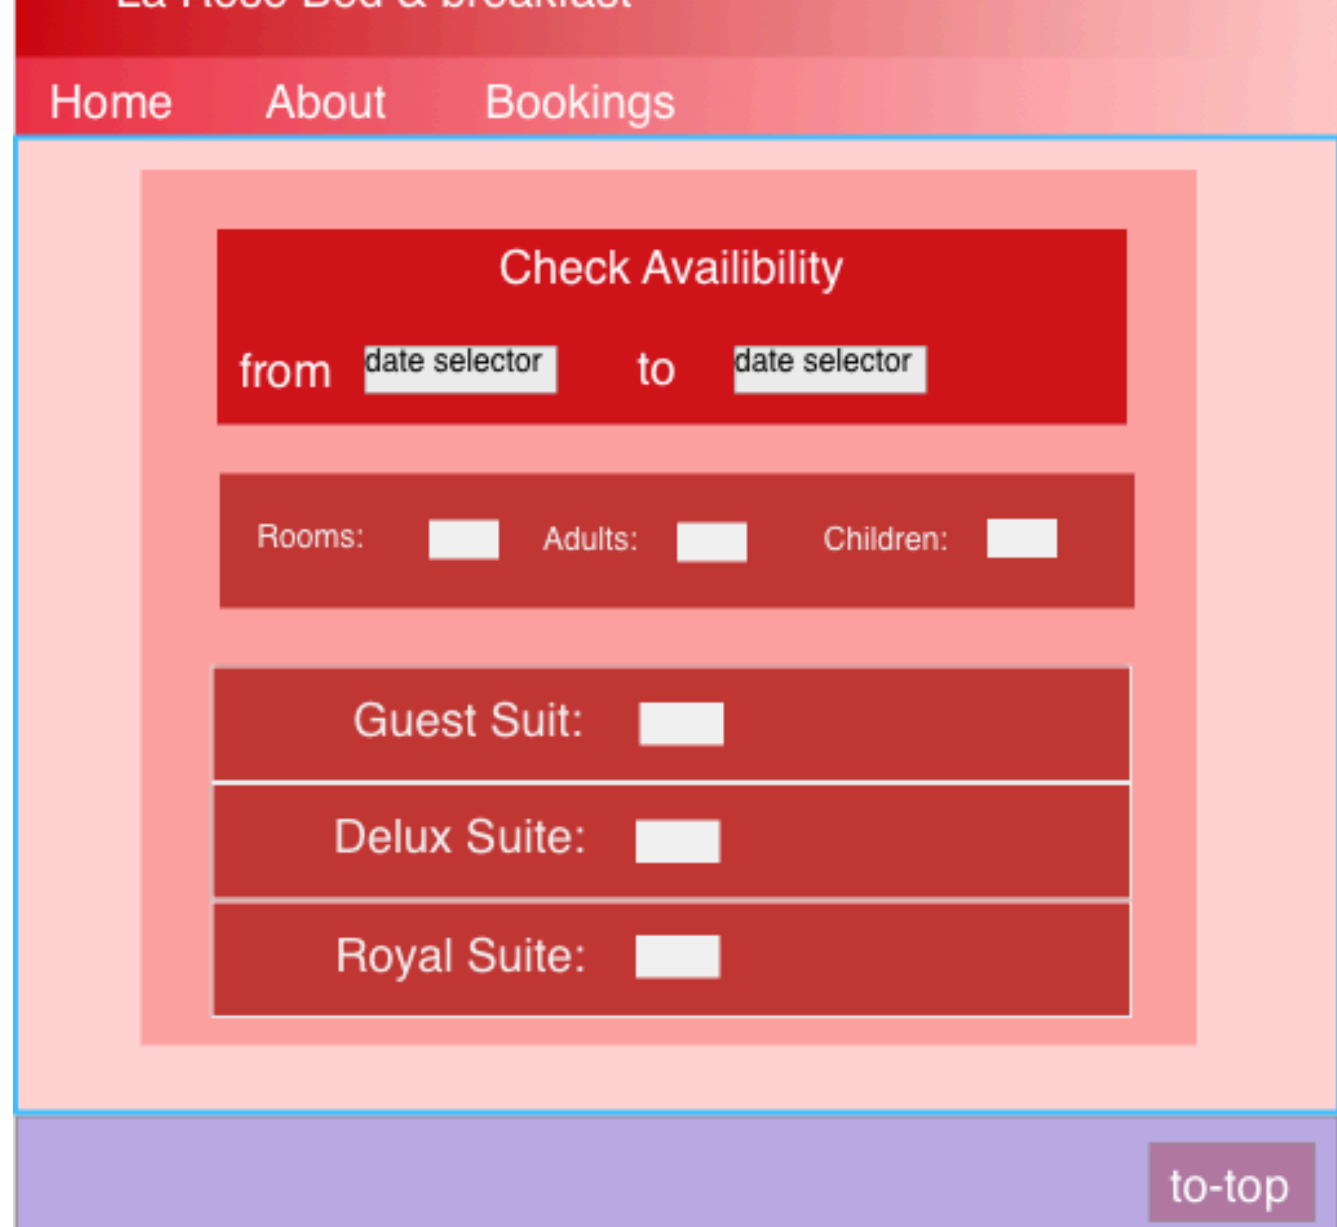

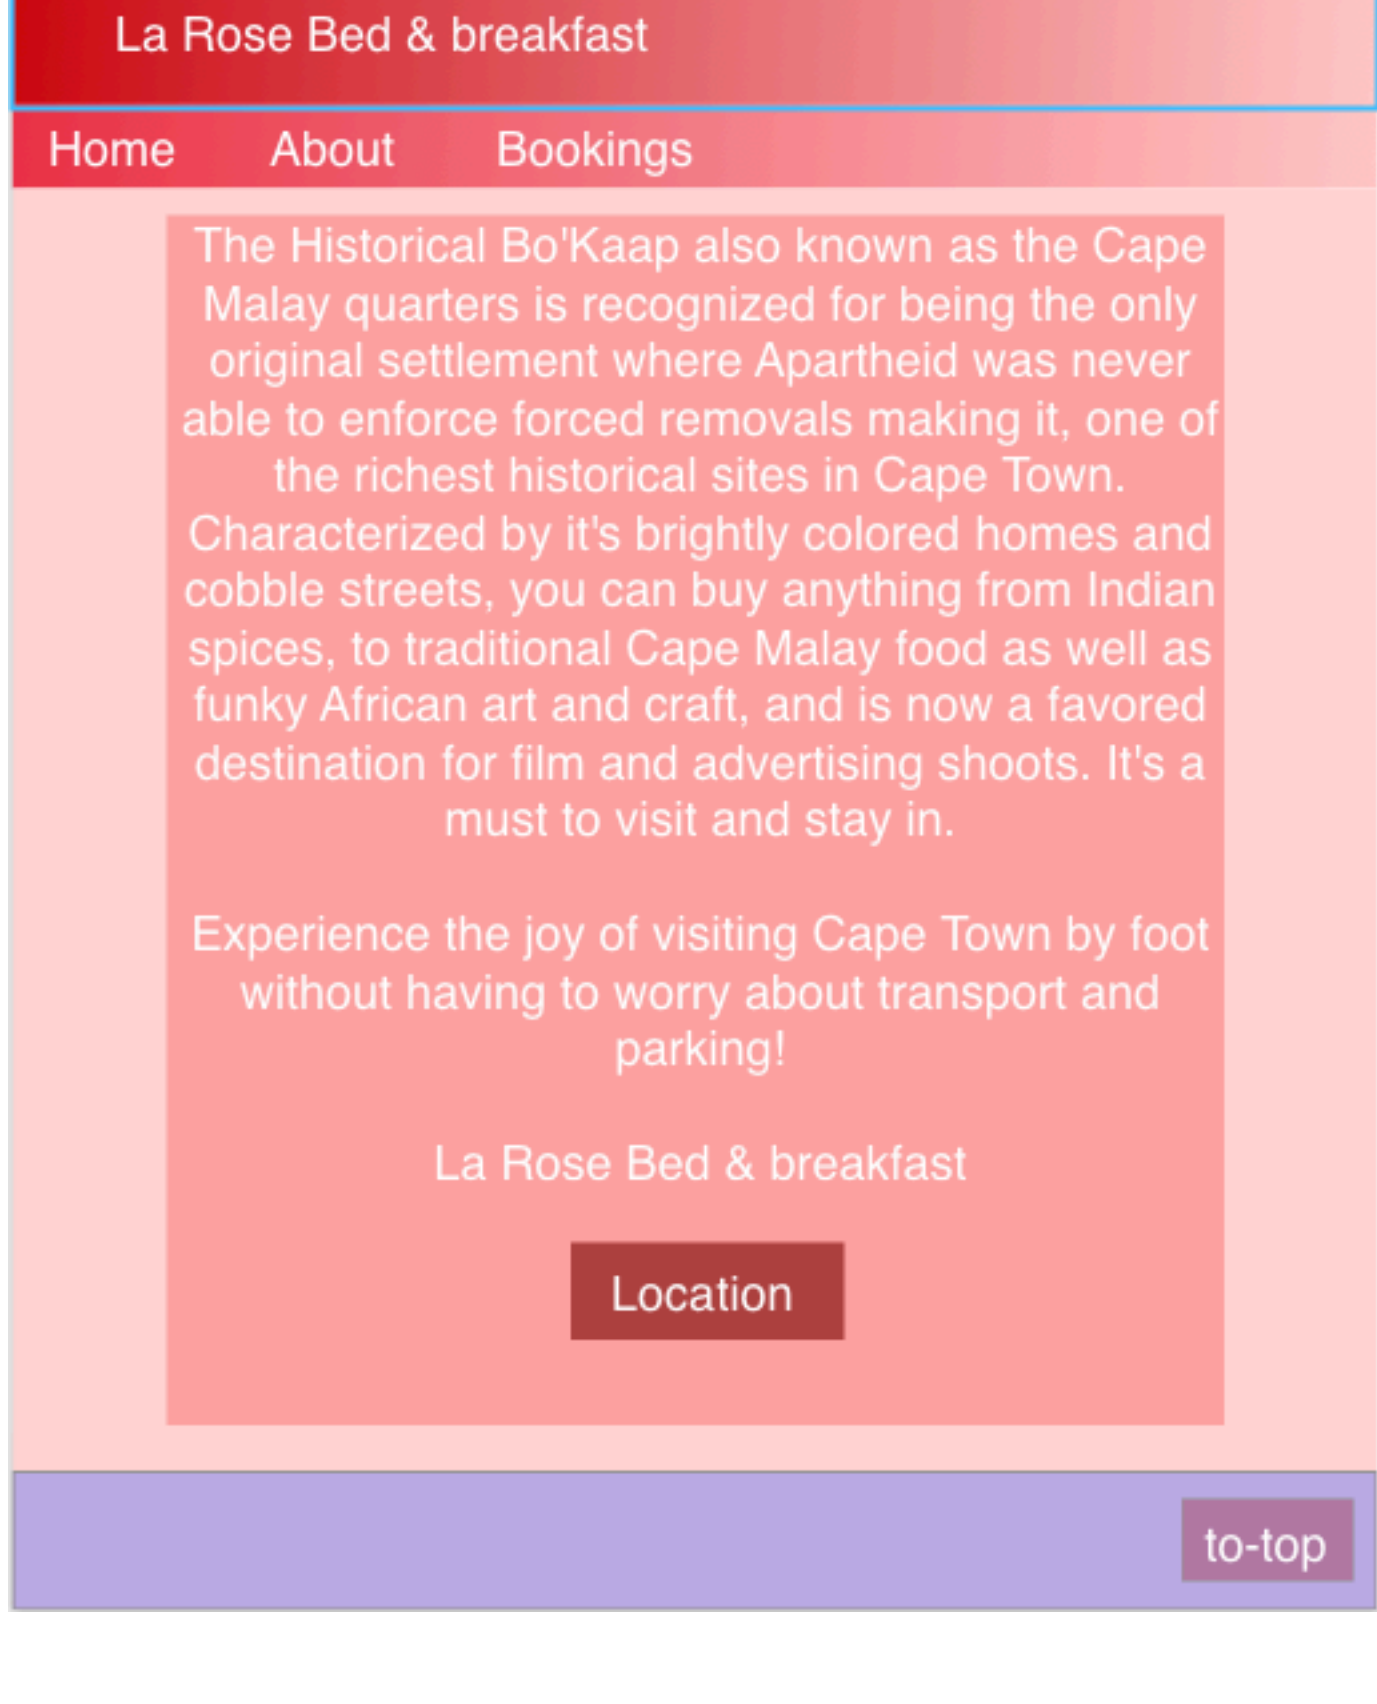

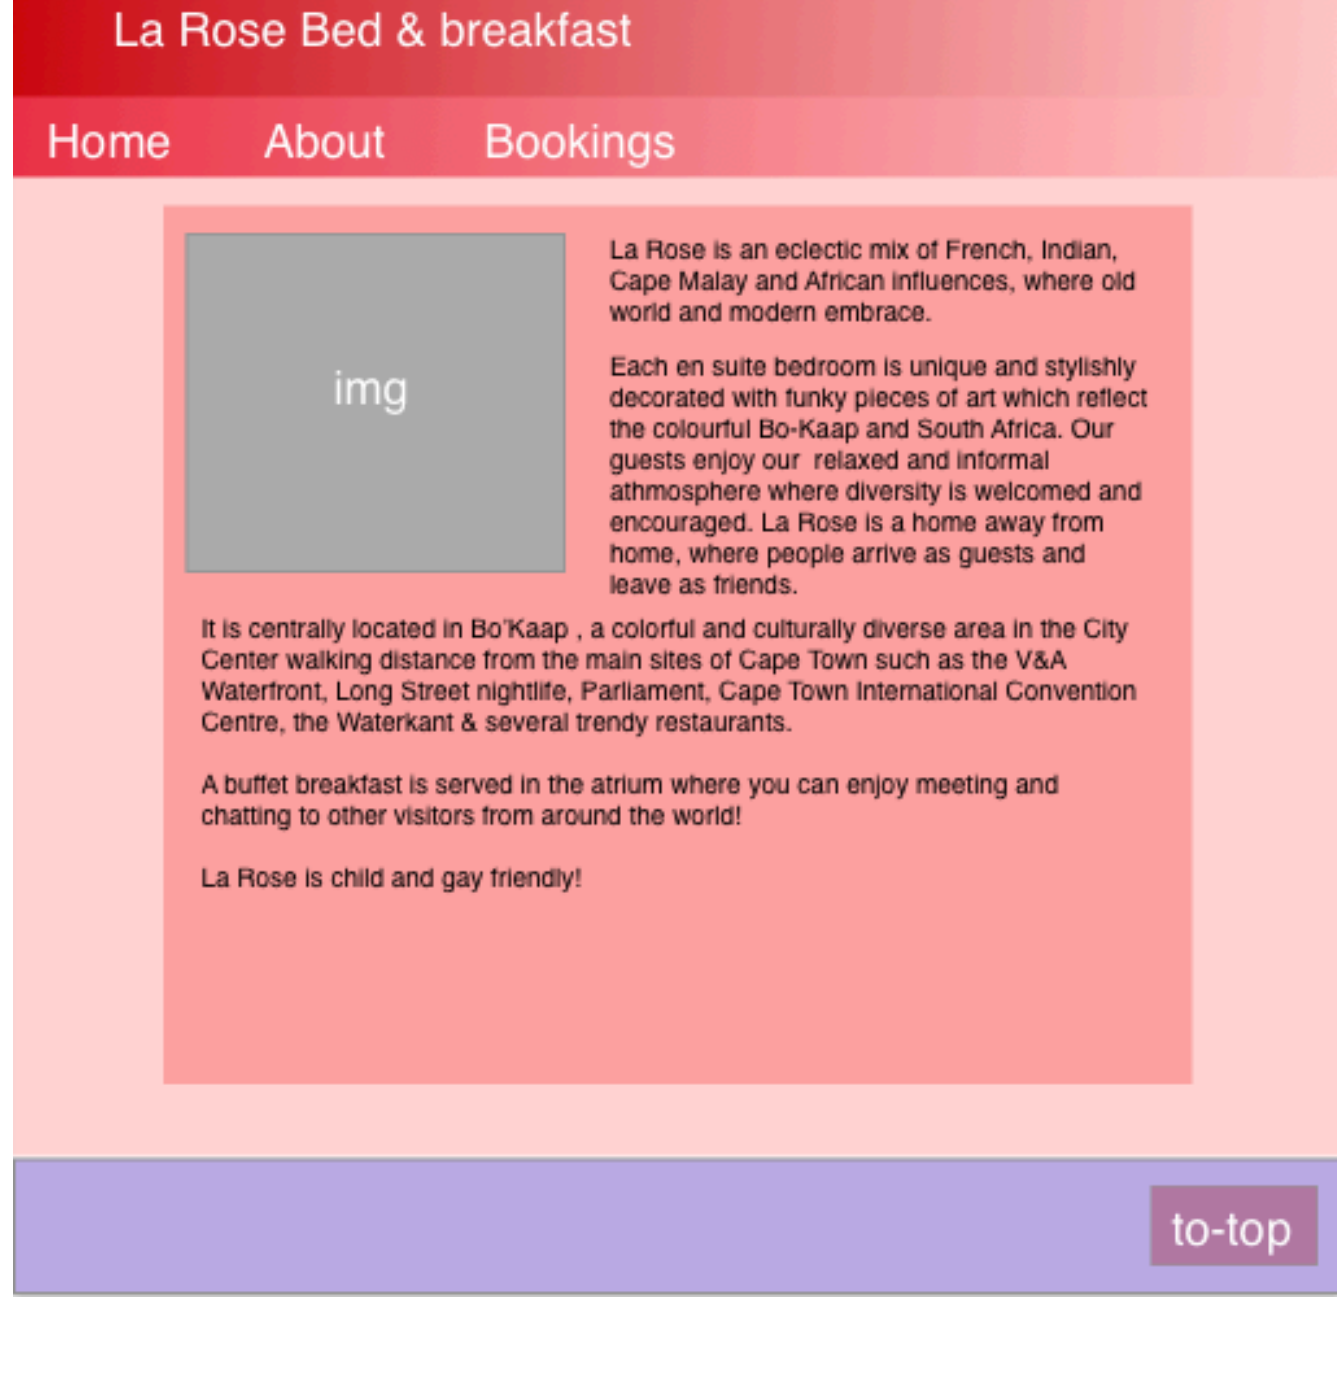

These are screen shots of the original site you can see some of the problems listed above.a

I have decided to redesign the entire website. I am going to reduce the website to 3 functional and aesthetically pleasing pages. I am using a very simple design to reduce the users confusion while navigating through the site.

I will also be asking possible users to navigate the site to test my UX and get their feed back on how user friendly it is and if they found the sites layout and color scheme pleasing to the eye.

This is what I had in mind but I was not happy with the color scheme it was more the layout that I liked.

I am trying to make the the site more thematic of the the name La Rose B&B with a lot of reds and pinks in the color scheme instead of being based off the colors of the Bo' Kaap as their buildings are bright and multicolored like the original site.

Despite my best efforts the many bugs I ran into has left me with a site that while still an improvement in a lot of aspects was not the site i wanted to or was hoping to build.
